The foundation of our customer relationships is built on personal attention, honesty and integrity. So whether we're investing in a new warehouse, financing a commercial plumbing project or simply expanding our stock of plumbing equipment, we turn to a trusted friend with the same philosophy.

Charlie Rigney at Independent Bank gives the same personal attention to all of our projects. His commitment to delivering the right solution to fit our needs has built a level of trust and confidence that is second to none.

Independent Bank is our financial institution of choice.
