As the owner of a restaurant, you have to know how to put together the right ingredients to be successful. And personal service is a key ingredient.

Same goes for banking. A good banker will understand your business, create the right combination of financing and deposit services and make a personal commitment to your success.

And that's exactly what I found in Kevin Griffin at Independent Bank. If you're looking for 5-Star service, look no further than Kevin and Independent Bank.
